Photoshop is complex to use, and it may take you weeks or months to become skilled at manipulating images. If you already have a graphic design program, such as CorelDraw, use that one instead and learn Photoshop on the side or after you finish your projects. The following steps show you how to open Photoshop and start work: 1. In a computer program, open the file named `04042010Photoshop.psd` from the DVD that accompanies this book. 2. Click the Open button. 3. You see the Photoshop workspace, shown in Figure 11-1. Figure 11-1: The Photoshop workspace is where you can work on your images, create new ones, and create and manipulate layers. 4. To create a new image, follow these steps: a. Click the New icon at the bottom of the workspace, on the far left. b. Pick an image to create or choose to create a new document from scratch, as shown in Figure 11-2. You can also select a new size, but the options in Photoshop make this process a little slower. Figure 11-2: To create a new image, select File⇒New. c. In the resulting dialog box, you see the three choices for the type of image you want to create: Original, Web, or RGB. The RGB option is for images to be used on the Web. The Web option creates a web-ready image. The Original option creates a standard image from scratch. To create an image from scratch, select RGB. d. In the resulting dialog box, set a name and resolution for the image. I chose 4000 x 3000 pixels (approximately), but your settings may be different. e. Click OK. The image is created on the desktop. f. To edit an image, use the standard Photoshop tools to work on it. 5. To close the image, click the X at the top-right corner. If you don't close it, you can save the image by either clicking File⇒Save or by clicking the File⇒Save icon (the green folder) at the top of the workspace. 6. To return to the Library where you can view your images, click the Library tab on the top menu bar. Photoshop doesn't automatically give you access to photos you take with

Masters basketball: San Francisco State hits the road We like to think about our college hoops teams as regional rivals. When the Aztecs are at home, the Grizzlies are at a disadvantage. When we cheer for MSU, it's just a matter of "Go Aztecs, Go!" At least San Francisco State's home field is better than its travels. Or at least that's what we thought until Friday. The Spartans, making their first trip to the state of Utah, beat Utah Valley 76-64 on Friday night. Led by junior forward Chris Kimble, who scored a career-high 16 points, State defeated the Wolverines for the second time in three years. "It was good to see the home team get beat," said MSU coach Brett Reed. "It's going to be a lot of fun to see what happens." The loss was UVM's 10th straight. Former Spartan Paul Baribeau (1994-99) led all scorers with 19 points and was recently named the NCAA Men's Basketball Committee's national player of the week. Kimble, the only player averaging double-digits, scored a career-high 16 points and ended with 21. The Spartans (8-5, 1-0 Summit League) will be on the road again for a meeting with a team that's in rebuilding mode. Western Michigan (3-14, 0-1 MAC) is coming off a 54-51 home defeat to Ohio at the hands of the No. 4 team in the country. "Ohio did a better job of guarding us than they did the other night against Western Michigan," Kimble said. "They made it easier on us." The loss dropped the Broncos to their lowest point total in the John Dienhart era, which began in 1999. Brad Underwood is the WSU coach leading this transition. He's hoping his team can emerge by next season. "We're going to keep working. We had a great run for four years," Underwood said. "We'll try and make it into a six-year run." It'll be interesting to see what happens as Underwood attempts to revamp the program. Unhappily for the No. 15 Arizona Wildcats, a flurry of offense was unable to stem the flow of underclassmen at Nebraska. It didn't matter to the Wildcats (12-4, 1-
