The decision comes a day after Belgium's state secretary for foreign affairs, Didier Reynders, resigned, a move that was expected after he refused to agree a government decision to strip two ministers of their posts and hand them to justice officials to face charges.Low-field NMR experiments: pushing the resolution limit using a tripod-based stereoscopic technique. Solid state NMR experiments are often performed at low magnetic field strengths. In this limit, high sensitivity is obtained by using paramagnetic impurities in the sample. However, in pure samples, the dipolar field caused by the molecules in the sample is used for alignment and selectivity, even at low fields. We present a novel technique that can be used to decrease the errors arising from this dipolar field by using a parallel alignment of the magnetic field in three different directions. At low field, this alignment results in a triple-quantum (TQ) experiment. As the field is increased, the alignment becomes more effective and leads to the performance of high resolution experiments. This method is demonstrated with experimentally obtained experimental results from a pure sample of the 1H-4H tetramethylammonium nitrate at the BNL Magnetic Resonance Facility in the Brookhaven National Laboratory.Q: How to find 5 closest from 5 to be set what i need to do is, to write function that find the closest values from my input array and set them into new array.
